Introduction

ICASSI 2013 promises to be a most comprehensive and enriching learning experience, and the faculty, Board, and Administrative team members all look forward to seeing you in the Netherlands in July of 2013.

I am gratified that the annual Rudolf Dreikurs Summer Institute is going strong in its 46th year. It is a testament to the timeless value of the principles and teachings of Adler and Dreikurs. The 2013 Summer Institute is a reflection of ongoing efforts of ICASSI to ensure that our international institute brings fresh ideas, novel applications and updated course material to our participants. We are pleased to return to the flower-rich country of the Netherlands, a country in which we have enjoyed many previous stimulating and enriching summer institutes.

We are pleased that ICASSI 2013 will be strengthened by the addition of accomplished new faculty members. There will also be a broad range of program options. As usual, we'll have the fine diversity of courses and instructors from many nations. The 2013 plenary morning sessions will again be in English and German.

As always, the Summer Institute will bring together individuals from many nations, providing a truly unique opportunity to learn alongside and share experiences with colleagues from around the world. Participants will acquire knowledge and learn practical skills that will serve them in their professional and personal lives. The classes will deal with contemporary challenges in areas of parenting, couple relationships, school, counseling and clinical practice, the workplace, and in multi-cultural relationships. Adlerian principles and methods facilitate human relations in very many areas of human life.

Adlerian psychology is as relevant as ever, with its focus on cooperation, equality and mutual respect between individuals and groups, and its understanding of the whole person. In today's complex, fast-changing world, we must continue to find ways to help more people live healthy and strength-based lives. Whether you are a professional who counsels or teaches others or an individual or family member seeking personal development, you will benefit from the life-changing learning experience of ICASSI 2013.

ICASSI the International Committee of Adlerian Summer Schools and Institutes

A BRIEF HISTORY

ICASSI (the International Committee of Adlerian Summer Schools and Institutes) is a non-profit educational organization whose objective is to help professionals, students, and lay persons learn the teachings of Adler and Dreikurs and master appropriate skills, and to teach Adler's and Dreikurs' principles and methods where professional and personal development opportunities are needed.

Alfred Adler, a young colleague of Sigmund Freud in the early years of the 20th Century, developed a psychiatric and educational treatment and prevention approach that today would be called a strength-based and community-oriented psychology. The emphasis was on the fundamental motivation of human beings to belong and to contribute to the larger society in which they live.

Rudolf Dreikurs, a younger colleague of Adler, established ICASSI and the Summer Institute in 1962. Dreikurs created ICASSI because of his ongoing dedication to spreading the teachings of Adler to people around the world, not only as a psychological method of treatment, but as a philosophy of life.

In his early days of practicing psychiatry in Vienna, Dreikurs saw the need to extend his office into the community. He was convinced that use of Adlerian education methods in the home and in the school would enable children to reach a higher level of functioning. He believed they would develop a greater sense of their own strength and ability, and would learn the responsibility of citizenship in a free world. He was also convinced that prevention was more important than treatment.

From his immediate community, Dreikurs extended his work to the nation and then internationally, starting with his first visit to Brazil in 1937 and again in 1946. He moved to the United States in 1937, working internationally in Israel in 1959 and holding the first International Summer School in Denmark in 1962. He visualized the acceptance of "social interest" among a steadily widening group of people worldwide, who would experience living in harmony and peace.

It was Dreikurs' hope to hold the Summer Institute in a different country each year wherever there was a group in need of impetus to grow.

THEORY AND PRACTICE OF ADLER AND DREIKURS: IN A NUTSHELL

Adlerian psychology is holistic (each of us is a unique whole person), social, and purposive (human action is understood in terms of self-set goals, of which we usually are not aware). Mental health is understood in terms of a person's or a community's striving for contribution, equality, and mutual respect between individuals and between groups. Based on many decades of effective methods for prevention and treatment of psychological and social problems, Adlerian theory and practices offer concrete steps for improved human relationships in the family, school, and workplace, and in multi-national interactions.

THE ICASSI MISSION:

Using the theory and practice of Individual Psychology as learned through the teachings of Alfred Adler and Rudolf Dreikurs:

Reach out to others through education, training, dialogue, and experience

Enhance the spirit of social interest, sharing, and cooperation, and foster equality by making a common effort to eliminate the barriers between nationalities, age groups, genders, religions, social classes, races, professions, and any other artificial distinctions by which humans believe themselves to be divided

Stimulate leadership in different countries and help potential and existing leaders in their efforts to establish a world of peace and cooperation

ICASSI is proud of it's foundation on a psychology of two languages, and provides translation to help participants share in the learning and exchange of ideas. ICASSI values the cultural and linguistic diversity that is fundamental to it's success, and celebrates the more than 20 nations that participate each year.

 Courses identified as (1) are for Week One only. Courses identified as (1+2) indicate that although the course continues through Weeks One and Two, participants may choose to register for just the first or second week or both weeks.

Week One Classes Bloc 2, Mornings from 11:00 to 13:00	Faculty
A201 Emotions and Private Logic (Eng) (1) People often seek therapy because of emotional distress. The nature of that distress gives immediate evidence of the types of problems faced and the private logic assumptions being violated. Emotions usually follow private logic and often conflict with common sense. This is why Dreikurs referred to this as the “peculiar relationship.” This relationship is described relative to the purpose of emotions within the teleological model and their role in the holistic model of thinking, feeling and acting with a social context. Through lecture, demonstration and practice, participants will learn to work with emotion to create emotional and life-style reorientation.	Paul Rasmussen Limit: 20 Not Open to Youth
A202 Managing Grief and Loss in Our Personal and Professional Lives (Eng) (1) Grief and loss is a frequent experience in all our lives. This course will explore the grieving process and present strategies for coping within each stage of living and working with grief and loss. The application of the concepts of private logic, early recollections, life tasks, and movement will be an integral part of the group activities.	Marion Balla Limit: 15 Open to Youth
A203 Family Counseling (Eng) (1) This course may serve as an introductory or advanced course due to the fact the primary means of teaching will be through live demonstrations. Participants will have an opportunity to observe and experience use of “The Most Memorable Observation” as a technique for understanding how one’s belief system influences choice of parenting style. Problems common to practicing therapists will be discussed, including treating children diagnosed with Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorder. Open to professionals, parents, and adolescents.	Frank Walton Limit: 20 Open to Youth

Week One Classes Bloc 2, Mornings from 11:00 to 13:00	Faculty
A204 Lifestyle and Art Therapy (Ger/Eng) (1) Art therapy is a creative method to deepen the knowledge of oneself. Through interaction with others we learn to understand our own and other persons' lifestyles. This course is for participants who are new to Individual Psychology, and for advanced counselors who want to expand their skills through a creative method. This course is based on the book "Cows can be purple" by Sadie Tee Dreikurs.	Uti Landscheidt Limit: 12 Open to Youth
A205 Cooperative Problem Solving (Eng) (1) Whether in faculties, families or professional settings, people meet problems. This course will explore practical ways of helping each other find encouraging solutions to these social challenges. The influence of the language we use and the incident method will get special attention. This will be done through the input of "examples" provided by the participants.	Theo Joosten Limit: 24 Not Open to Youth
A206 Individual Psychology in the Workplace (Eng) (1 + 2) Adlerian Psychology helps improve human relations in all settings, including the work place. Workplace solutions are applicable also to problems in the family and school. Participants' own work problems are discussed. Work roles, conflict resolution, group dynamics, and personality variables are viewed within the Adler-Dreikurs framework.	Eva Dreikurs Ferguson Limit: 25 Not Open to Youth
A207 Play Therapy: An Introduction (Eng) (1) An overview of the basic principles and procedures of play therapy, this program will introduce participants to (1) a rationale for play therapy, (2) appropriate toys and play media for both site-based and traveling play therapy, (3) the facilitative language of play therapy, and (4) the use of play therapy in an Adlerian theoretical context. This program is appropriate for all persons who work with children ages three to ten.	Richard Watts Limit: 25 Open to Youth
A208 Empowering Parents and Children (Ger/Eng) (1) It is no secret that parenting or teaching today can be a complex task. This is a course designed with the needs of parents and educators in mind. This course will help participants grasp Adlerian and Dreikursian concepts that enhance the understanding of children's behavior, cooperation, effective communication, and problem solving techniques. Discipline could be another bone of contention for adults working with children. Positive discipline provides an alternative to rewards and punishments thus enhancing mutual respect, self-esteem and conflict resolutions. This is a hands-on program that empowers participants to unleash their creative self and make decisions on the useful side of life.	Erika Echle and Joyce Callus Limit: 20 Not Open to Youth

Week One Classes Bloc 2, Mornings from 11:00 to 13:00	Faculty
A209 Working with Trauma for Professionals (Eng) (1) In recent years, increased understanding of the neurological and bio-psychosocial aspects of trauma has resulted in more effective processes that integrate well with an Adlerian therapeutic approach. This highly practical course will focus particularly on developing the therapeutic skills of ensuring safety and stability, developing dual attention and building on the person's resilience and social connection. Target group: Health professionals and those in training. Limited to: 18 participants.	Anthea Millar Limit: 18 Not Open to Youth

These topics will be approached under the overarching themes of Adler's holism and life tasks. Positive Psychology, whose roots are in IP, will also be integrated. Participants can apply the material learned to themselves as well as their clients.	Becky LaFountain Limit: 15 Not Open to Youth

Week One Classes Bloc 3, Afternoon from 14:30-16:30	Faculty
A301 Neurosis from an Individual Psychology Perspective (Ger) (1) In spite of using the same terms as Freud, Adler understood human beings and their relationships in a totally different way. Neurosis is one good example of this. Using the same term Adler was not interested in diagnosis. He was interested in people's choices of the way they face life. We shall explore Adler's understanding of the neurotic attitude towards life. Participants will learn whether they have been making neurotic choices and how they can change these. Both lay people and professionals are welcome.	Zivit Abramson Limit: 25 Open to Youth
A302 Managing Life Transitions (Eng) (1) This course is designed to assist participants to identify and explore the losses and gains inherent in major life transitions, e.g. aging, career choices and changes, retirement, marriage, empty family nest, divorce. Through the use of early recollections, anniversary dates, and the exploration of life tasks, participants will gain increased insight and strategies to manage major life changes. Open to youth.	Marion Balla Limit: 25 Open to Youth
A303 Dealing with Addictions (Eng) (1) From an Adler-Dreikurs perspective, participants will learn how private logic sets an individual up for addictive behaviors. A key to treatment and awareness is how the addiction itself reinforces the belief system. Processes used will include Early Recollection interpretations, the re-writing and re-reading of ERs, and honing the therapist's sensitivity, predictive potential, and perceptive reasoning.	Jim Holder Limit: 12 Not Open to Youth
A304 Putting Individual Psychology into Practice (Ger/Eng) (1) Adlerian principles such as priorities, social interest, and encouragement will be taught through exercises in which participants are actively involved. This course is for beginners who want to learn about themselves, and for advanced participants who want to learn new activities to use in parents groups, workplaces and other social settings.	Uti Landscheidt Limit: 25 Open to Youth
A305 Group Dynamics (Eng) (1) Promoting social equality within the workplace, training and other contexts requires understanding and attending to group dynamics and needs, as well as to individual psychological needs and life style issues. In this highly interactive and experiential course, group members are invited to explore a range of group experiences and scenarios in order to increase their confidence as facilitators, trainers and group and team members. 10 participants.	Karen John Limit: 10 Not Open to Youth

Week One Classes Bloc 3, Afternoon from 14:30-16:30	Faculty
A306 Couples Enrichment (Eng) (1) An intimate relationship is, as Adler clearly saw, an all-important task of life needing constant care. At no point can a happy couple lie back, thinking their work is done, for their garden of love will soon be overgrown with weeds and dry out. Partners need to learn how to become better gardeners. In this course we will focus on personal strengths and how to use them to cooperate and communicate more freely with the other, and in so doing become a better partner.	Yvonne Schuerer Limit: 15 Not Open to Youth
A307 Addressing Spirituality: an Adlerian Perspective (Eng) (1) Religious and spiritual clients both come from diverse cultural populations and may be a unique cultural population themselves. There are few examples of how therapeutic approaches can be adapted for use with clients' spirituality. This presentation addresses how Adlerian therapy may be used to work with clients in a way that respects their spiritual beliefs and facilitates the therapeutic process.	Richard Watts Limit: 10 Open to Youth
A308 History and Development of Individual Psychology (Eng) (1) Adlerian psychology is teleological and does not fit contemporary deterministic causal thinking. Kant, Vaihinger, and Smuts influenced Adler's writing, and some of those influences will be discussed in simple, everyday terms. No philosophical background is required, and practitioners will find these ideas enlightening and useful.	Bill Linden Limit: 15 Not Open to Youth
A309 Encouragement (Eng) (1) This course will introduce very practical ways we can encourage ourselves and others. Through exercises and discussion we will explore specific strategies that can enable greater confidence, positive contribution and connection, overall building courage to face issues constructively in our personal and work lives.	Yoav Shoham Limit: 25 Open to Youth
A310 Leadership Development (Eng) (1) Leaders influence the culture of the organization and employees' levels of engagement, work satisfaction, cooperation, and performance. This course reviews leadership principles with an Adlerian lens. Participants will present their leadership issues and challenges and work with the instructor on implementing enhancements from an Adlerian perspective. Strategy and tactics at the organizational, team, and individual leadership levels will be discussed.	Jay Colker Limit: 16 Not Open to Youth

Week One Classes Bloc 3, Afternoon from 14:30-16:30	Faculty
A311 Lifestyle Assessment (1) This didactical and experiential course will show the unique principles and techniques of Adlerian Lifestyle Assessment used successfully in counselling, supervision and therapy. Participants work with early recollections and experience the importance of family constellation towards present life attitudes, priorities and orientations which form the unconscious goal and give the lifestyle direction. We learn how this can be brought to awareness and transformed in the process of Lifestyle Assessment. That course is for psychotherapists, counsellors and people who work in social or pedagogical fields or are interested in gaining more self-awareness.	Gerhard Baumer Limit: 18 Not Open to Youth

TYPE B Classes

Week One Classes Meet in Bloc 2 and Bloc 3 each day	Faculty
B101 How is lifestyle created? (Eng) (1) Adler said: “The individual is the picture and the artist.” We are the artists of our personality. While there is heredity and environment Adler added a third force—the creative power of the individual. This innate creativity allows us to choose thoughts, feelings, perceptions, and behaviors that will assist us in reaching our goals. This course presents basic information to assist all those who wish to understand self and others, and teach Adlerian principles in order to help others actualize their creativity and develop social interest—the basis for mental health.	Betty Lou Bettner Limit: 25 Open to Youth
B102 Use of Early Recollections in Adlerian Psychotherapy and Counseling (Eng) (1) One of Adler’s genius ideas was to identify the powerful potential in the use of early recollections (ERs) in Adlerian Psychotherapy. The use of ERs is vital for the analysis of the patient’s lifestyle. ERs are metaphors, a creative way to describe accurately the patient’s current emotional state. The metaphoric language is essential for the development of a mutual language between the therapist and the patient. ERs as metaphors supply excellent tools for finding the patient’s strengths and creative abilities. In the therapeutic process, discovering the strengths enable the patient and the therapist to reconstruct the ERs and find productive/creative solutions to cope differently with life. The creative way of working with ERs will be the main theme of this workshop. This workshop is open for therapists and counselors who work with individuals, couples, families and vocational therapists.	Rachel Shifron Limit: 15 Not Open to Youth
B103 Understanding Self, Others and Cross-Cultural Dynamics through Art Therapy (Eng) (1) In understanding ourselves we develop empathy to interact respectfully with “other.” Art is a powerful and healing way to explore one’s private logic around belonging and differences. Participants will learn how to process images, use group dynamics, watch and listen to body language that Adler called “physical speech.” By integrating art therapy processes, Early Recollections to access cultural and intergenerational patterns participants will enhance their effectiveness with multicultural clients, colleagues, and family members. No artistic skill required.	Hala Buck Limit: 12 Not Open to Youth

B602 Adlerian Supervision (Eng) (2) The purpose of this course is to present an Adlerian model for supervision in three professional fields: THERAPY, COUNSELING and TEACHING. Supervision is a natural stage of development for professionals. The experience, knowledge and understanding of the profession are shared in supervision. In the Adlerian model the supervisees are not "students" who learn from their masters, rather, each one of them is a unique individual who works according to his/her own lifestyle. The supervisor is a good listener and has to be an expert in understanding the supervisee's lifestyle. Therefore, issues concerning lifestyle and use of early recollections will be part of the workshop. Therapists, counselors and teachers are welcome to take part in this workshop.	Rachel Shifron Limit: 25 Not Open to Youth

Children and Youths Programs

ICASSI offers a unique, international, educational program for children and youths. While the parents learn the theory of Individual Psychology in the morning lectures and its practice during Blocs II and III, qualified teachers will lead the children, through play, into the basics of Individual Psychology. There is a special value to having a multi-lingual (English, German, Dutch) experience in this children's program, as children become more culturally aware and comfortable in a global society. The objective of the teachers is to encourage children to find their place confidently in the group and to design the way the group functions with the other children and teachers. The educational world of ICASSI is determined by people learning with each other about the world around them. Here the approach is "Help me do it by myself with others in a way that my abilities will contribute to the community." Parents are included in this process.

The Children's Program is open to children ages 4 to 11 during Blocs 1, 2 and 3. Children must be at least 4 years old and toilet trained to participate in ICASSI's Children's Program. The program is a unique opportunity for young people to learn and socialize in an encouraging atmosphere. The leaders are bi-lingual and the children have an exciting opportunity to make friends with young people from diverse cultures of many nations from around the world.

ICASSI also offers programs for youths, ages 12 to 17. During Blocs 1 and 3 there are recreational programs, while Bloc 2 offers a personal development course for youths 12 to 17. Youths 15 to 17 may also participate in adult courses that indicate they are open to youth.

Parents are responsible for their children and youths at all times, and are expected to be clear about rules, boundaries and expected behavior.

Parents of children under four years of age must make their own arrangements for child care. ICASSI does not provide care for this age group. Information to help parents find resources may be provided on request.

Parent Meetings

Staff running the programs for children and youth will be available during registration to meet with parents and respond to their questions. Parents and their children and youths are asked to meet with program staff on the Monday of each week. It is very important that all parents attend. The purpose of the meetings is to exchange information, and to allow staff to explain ICASSI policies and expectations. The time and place of the meetings will be announced at registration and at Bloc 1 on Monday morning. See the newsletter in case you forget the location.

SITE 2013: WAGENINGEN, The Netherlands

The Netherlands has about 16.5 million inhabitants with almost a million people living in its capital, Amsterdam. Our ICASSI venue for 2013, the city of Wageningen, is centrally situated in the heart of the Netherlands, in the middle of varied surroundings and beautiful sceneries. It has a population of 38,000. Nearby are several attractions; 'Ouwehands Dierenpark' (zoo), 'Paleis het Loo' (a royal palace), 'Burgers' Zoo', national park 'Hoge Veluwe' and the 'Nederlands Openluchtmuseum' (Dutch historical open air museum). The atmosphere of the city is between a county and city vibe. The many and varied international students of Wageningen University and Research Centre greatly influence the general atmosphere in the city and on the many terraces in the city centre.

Historically, Wageningen is closely connected to the liberation of The Netherlands in 1945. The capitulation was signed in this small city at Hotel "De Wereld". If you wish, you can view the so-called Capitulation Room, which has remained virtually unchanged since that historic happening. In 2013 Wageningen will celebrate 750 years as a city with many and varied activities. See for more information: www.wageningen.nl

Due to the central position of Wageningen, it is easy to travel to Utrecht and Amsterdam and other interesting places by train.

Temperatures in July vary from 20 C to 25 C. Be sure to bring something warm for a cool evening.

HOTEL AND CONFERENCE CENTRE

The ICASSI summer institute will take place in Hof van Wageningen. It is located within a 5 minute walk to the city centre.

OTHER ACCOMMODATION OPTIONS

Persons living close by Wageningen may travel every day to the conference centre. Parking is available for 5 Euro per day and an Off-Site Fee is charged by ICASSI to cover the costs of coffee breaks, receptions, meeting rooms and audiovisual fees.
